CASE STUDY

Medical Manufacturing Company

Our client, a medical manufacturing company, engaged Ryan to support with its tax reclaim.

As part of the onboarding process, our experts conducted a technical analysis to understand the client, the invoice types, and their output supplies. During this, we discovered that many of the legally required documents were incorrect, so we took the following steps on behalf of our client:

- › Reached out to the parties involved to inform them of the legal requirements
- › Worked with these parties to ensure new documents were produced that met tax authority requirements
- › Collaborated with our VAT compliance and consulting team to ensure our client better understood the European VAT rules

Our tax professionals successfully submitted the company's claim within the very tight confines of the deadline set by the tax authorities.

"[Our consultant] Zuzana's tenacious drive to provide an auspicious level of quality service to clients is why I continue to work with Ryan. The service was nothing less than extraordinary!"
