

Meeting Sales Tax Exemption Certificate Compliance Challenges

Leveraging the value of Ryan's Exemption Certificate Management outsourcing service.

Ryan provides tax exemption certificate outsourcing to relieve companies of the time-consuming, error-prone task of exemption certificate collection, validation, renewal, and reporting.

The collection, validation, and storage of valid tax exemption certificates that must be produced under audit have resulted in multi-million dollar assessments because of missing, invalid, or expired tax certificates. Waiting until an audit to collect certificates from customers creates challenges—especially if customers are out of business. And because many of the certificates have expiration periods, can be for single transactions, and are for specific goods and/or services, complexities can be too much to keep up with. That's why Ryan offers an outsourcing service to manage all your sales tax exemption certificates.
